

Digital Offers on Your Wrist: The RetailMeNot App Featured on Samsung's New Gear S

Austin, TX, November 7, 2014 — RetailMeNot (www.retailmenot.com/mobile), the largest digital offers destination in the United States, today announced that the free RetailMeNot app would be the exclusive digital offers app featured on the new Samsung Gear S smartwatch (<http://www.samsung.com/global/microsite/gears/>) that will go to market later this month.

This is the first time the RetailMeNot app has been integrated into a touch-screen wearable device.

The Samsung Gear S smartwatch is designed with an elegant curved display for a comfortable fit. The wearable includes a customizable screen clock and changeable straps that help owners express their style. The seamless user interface allows easy access to information and notifications, including alerts from RetailMeNot on how to spend less while shopping.

RetailMeNot app users are tethered via their Gear S to their Samsung smartphone device via Bluetooth. The inclusion of the RetailMeNot app will enable shoppers to receive offers and reminders of when their saved coupons from online and in-store retailers are about to expire. By tapping on the RetailMeNot app icon on the Gear S, users can automatically display saved offers within a user's Samsung smartphone and wearable device.

"We're pleased to be the exclusive digital offers app and launch partner on the Samsung Gear S, and look forward to evolving our experience on wearable devices to help consumers shop smart and save," said Steven Pho, senior vice president of corporate development at RetailMeNot, Inc. "Millions of consumers use the RetailMeNot app every day, and our partnership with the Samsung Gear S enables us to provide our users a richer shopping experience."
