

RetailMeNot Shoppers Trend Report: Over Two-Thirds of Survey Respondents Are More Worried About What to Buy Mom on Mother's Day Than What to Buy Dad on Father's Day

- 23% of survey respondents will be spending more than $60 on Mom's gift

- More than half of consumers (52%) are more likely to wish their moms Happy Mother's Day in person - 16% have forgotten to contact mom

- RetailMeNot announces Most Pinteresting Mom Giveaway open today through May 12

AUSTIN, Texas, May 6, 2013 /PRNewswire/ -- RetailMeNot.com (www.retailmenot.com), the largest digital coupon website in the United States, today released its Shoppers Trend Report, revealing that nearly 7 in 10 U.S. residents (67%) are more worried about what to buy their mom for Mother's Day than what to buy their dad for Father's Day.

According to the survey, conducted jointly with The Omnibus Company, more than 4 in 10 people (42%) are willing to spend up to $40 on a gift for mom, while an additional 22% will be spending $41 to $60, and 23% will be spending $61 or more on her!

"Being that I am a mom, Mother's Day is one of my favorite holidays. Although one of the things I love the most is a handmade card and an 'I love you, Mom!' from my 7-year-old daughter. I won't lie, a tasteful gift or bouquet of flowers to celebrate my mom-hood is always nice too!" says Trae Bodge, senior editor for The Real Deal by RetailMeNot. "The good news for you gift-giving consumers is that there are plenty of options that won't break the bank. And many of those options have coupons available, so you can save when you shop for that special gift for your mom."

What Mom Wants: Flowers and a Spa Day Take the Lead

The survey revealed what mom would like to receive on her special day: Mom's top four picks this year are flowers (18%), a spa day (18%), gift cards (15%) and jewelry (15%).

A similar poll last year indicated that the most popular gifts desired by mom were gift cards (19%) and flowers (15%).

Go Home to Mamma Already!

This year, 52% of moms will most likely be wished a "Happy Mother's Day" in person, while 23% will receive a phone call and 15% are most likely to get a greeting card.

Summary of findings:

- Over two-thirds of respondents would be more worried about what to buy Mom for Mother's Day than what to buy Dad for Father's Day!
- 18% of moms most hope to receive flowers for Mother's Day, while another 18% would most like a spa day, 15% would most like a gift card or gift certificate, and another 15% would most like jewelry.
- Meeting her expectations, 27% of people will most likely be giving their mom flowers for Mother's Day this year and 18% will be most apt to give a gift card. Unfortunately, only seven percent plan to give jewelry this year and just two percent plan to give a spa day.
 - Spouses will be honoring their wives/partners with gifts as well. The top three gifts are a nice meal (22%), flowers (18%), gift cards (12%) and jewelry (12%).
- 42% of respondents intend to spend up to $40 on Mom for Mother's Day, while 22% will spend between $41 and $60, and 23% will spend $61 or more.
 - 10% are not planning to give a Mother's Day gift to their mom this year.

Survey Methodology:

The survey was conducted between April 12 and April 17, 2013, among 1,067 nationally representative U.S. residents ages 18 and over, using an email invitation and an online survey. Quotas are set to ensure reliable and accurate representation of the entire U.S. population ages 18 and over. Results of any sample are subject to sampling variation. The magnitude of the variation is measurable and is affected by the number of interviews and the level of the percentages expressing the results. In this particular study, the chances are 95 in 100 that a survey result does not vary, plus or minus, by more than 3 percentage points from the result that would be obtained if interviews had been conducted with all persons in the universe represented by the sample. The margin of error for any subgroups will be slightly higher.
