

RetailMeNot Rx Saver Helps People Save Up to 50% on Prescriptions

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 3, 2018 /PRNewswire/ -- Consumers don't have to overpay for prescriptions anymore. Introducing RetailMeNot Rx Saver, a new savings website that makes it easy to find the lowest prices on prescription medication. Rx Saver allows consumers to search for medication, compare prices at different nearby pharmacies, and pick the price they want to pay. They'll get a coupon, present it to the pharmacist at the time of purchase, and save up to 50%.

According to a new survey conducted by RetailMeNot Rx Saver and Kelton Global, 87% of Americans have taken prescription drugs at some point in their lives, and 57% of people are currently taking them.

While half of consumers currently taking prescription medications are looking for cheaper options, 67% of those surveyed didn't realize a website or app could help them save money on their medication.

For those with health insurance, Rx Saver is useful because it helps consumers comparison shop for the best price. Often times, it can be more economical to use Rx Saver coupons rather than going through insurance.

"Many consumers aren't aware that prescription costs may vary at each pharmacy. We see a great opportunity to not only help people save on prescription costs but to provide additional education within the space," said Marissa Tarleton, chief marketing officer, RetailMeNot, Inc. "By adding RetailMeNot Rx Saver to our portfolio, we are taking another step toward RetailMeNot becoming the ultimate savings destination for all of life's essentials, including prescription medications."

When it comes to the number of Americans taking prescription drugs and the costs adding up, the survey helped unearth additional findings:

- The average consumer spends $644 each year on prescription medication
- Among those who are currently taking medications, the average yearly spend for those drugs nearly doubles to $1,124 annually
- Costs are a major driver in prescriptions not being filled. Over 4 in 5 (82%) Americans say something has caused them to not fill a prescription, with 61% claiming it was because it was too expensive
- 50% of Americans are looking for discounts or cheaper options, including asking their doctor to switch them to a less expensive medication (32%) or applying for coupons or assistance (20%)

The savings found on prescription drugs with RetailMeNot Rx Saver is another way RetailMeNot fulfills its mission to be the leading savings destination for all consumers' needs. The inclusion of pharmaceutical savings complements the company's other verticals in retail, travel and food and grocery, with savings available via digital coupons, Cash Back Offers, discount gift cards and the Genie browser extension.

About the RxSaver Survey

The RetailMeNot RxSaver Survey was conducted between August 13, 2018, and August 15, 2018, among 1,004 nationally representative Americans ages 18 and over, using an email invitation and an online survey. Quotas are set to ensure reliable and accurate representation of the entire U.S. population ages 18 and over.

Results of any sample are subject to sampling variation. The magnitude of the variation is measurable and is affected by the number of interviews and the level of the percentages expressing the results. In this particular study, the chances are 95 in 100 that a survey result does not vary, plus or minus, by more than 3.1 percentage points from the result that would be obtained if interviews had been conducted with all persons in the universe represented by the sample. The margin of error of any subgroups will be slightly higher.
